THE ALASKA COMPANY.

Inside History of the Origin of its Formation in 1868.

Controls the Most Valuable Seal Fur Trade in the World.

The New York Sun's Washington correspondent contributes to that journal the following relative to the inception and formation of the

ALASKA COMMERCIAL COMPANY.

When arrangements were made for the formal transfer of the territory of Alaska to the United States, in compliance with the terms of the treaty of purchase, Gen. Rousseau of the United States army was named as commissioner to receive the territory for the United States. Prince Matsukoff, Governor of Russian America and Governor of the Russian American Fur Company, acted for the Russian government. Mr. H. M. Hutchinson accompanied Gen. Rousseau to Sitka in the capacity of private secretary. The transfer of the territory was a very simple ceremony. It included the transfer of all the Russian government's property in the territory. Apart from the land, this coexisted of the public buildings at Sitka, comprising the governor's castle, the custom house, barracks, officers' quarters, hospital, and wharf. In addition to these buildings handed over by the Russian Governor to the United States Commissioner, other buildings, with their contents, were reserved by Prince Matsukoff as the property of the Russian Fur Company, though the company had been paid $250,000 for their buildings and other property, said payment being in addition to the $7,000,000 agreed upon as the price of the territory.

FROM PENURY TO AFFLUENCE.

Having complied with his instructions as governor of the territory and transferred Alaska to the United States Commissioner, Prince Matsukoff turned his attention to disposing of the property of the fur company. In these negotiations Gen. Rousseau, as an officer of the United States, could take no open or active part, and his secretary, Mr. Hutchinson, an acute, but impecunious man, came to the front and completed a bargain for all the property of the Russian company in Alaska, including a large lot of sealskins stored in Sitka. The bargain was on private terms, and it was undoubtedly to the personal advantage of Prince Matsukoff and Mr. Hutchinson to the exclusion of the stockholders of the Russian Fur Company and American officers stationed at Sitka, who claimed that they were entitled to a share of the spoils. This bargain raised Hutchinson from penury to affluence. It also placed him in possession of full details of the value of the fur trade of Alaska and the Seal Islands, of which he proposed to take possession in the following year by virtue of his bargain with Prince Matsukoff.

ORGANIZING THE COMPANY.

With the sealskins and other property placed in his hands by the Russian ex-Governor of the territory and Governor of the fur company, Hutchinson left Sitka for Victoria and San Francisco. At the former place he met with a Mr. Kohl, owner of a British steamer named the Fidelitor. Kohl was taken as a partner by Hutchinson, and put his steamer into the common stock of the firm, which is still in existence as Hutchinson, Kohl & Co., occupying the same premises as the Alaska Commercial Company in San Francisco. The Fidelitor was used by the company for several years in carrying supplies to and bringing furs from Alaska, after obtaining an American register for her by claiming that she was a Russian vessel at the date of the transfer of Alaska to the United States. By this trick the register was obtained, and she ran for several years in the coastwise trade of California. On his arrival at San Francisco, Hutchinson quietly organized a syndicate to work the fur trade of the newly acquired territory, particularly the seal fur trade of the Pribylov Islands. They believed they would have no competition, and that by virtue of Hutchinson's arrangement with Prince Matsukoff at Sitka, they could hold the islands against competitors if any should appear.

WEALTH OF THE SEAL ROOKERIES.

In the spring of 1868 Hutchinson started for San Francisco at the head of a party with a liberal outfit, prepared to occupy the Seal Islands. Arriving there they found to their surprise and chagrin that a party of experienced sealers from New London and Stonington, commanded by Capt. Morgan, and representing Messrs. Williams, Haven & Co. and other capitalists of New London, who had long been engaged in the sealing trade of the South Shetland Islands, were in possession of the Pribylov Islands, and had come to stay. For several weeks a fight for possession of the islands was threatened, but inasmuch as a battle with firearms would frighten away the seals, and leave the battle ground worthless to the visitors, they decided to join forces and divide the season's catch. While they were amicably at work an expedition arrived at the islands from Honolulu, headed by Mr. Pfingel, Russian Vice-Consul at Honolulu, who believed that he would find the islands free to all comers. He was forced to retire before the combined forces of Hutchinson and Capt. Morgan. It had now become obvious that in their unprotected condition and with the immense wealth of their seal rookeries the islands would attract adventurers from many lands, the rookeries would be destroyed, the seals frightened away, and the value of the islands to the United States Government be utterly destroyed unless prompt and effective Government protection should be provided. This was provided by act of Congress in the winter of 1868, the conditions upon which permission to take seals upon the islands being reserved for future Congressional action.

STRONG POLITICAL INFLUENCE.

The coalition represented by Hutchinson and Morgan continued and led up to the organization of the powerful and wealthy Alaska Commercial Company, with the headquarters at San Francisco. Since 1870 this company has controlled the entire fur trade of Alaska. By virtue of its alliances with the lessees of the Russian Seal Islands it controls also the valuable fur seal trade of the world. With strong political influence in the Congress and Treasury Department of 1870, the company obtained in the year a twenty years' lease of the Pribylov Islands, which lease expires in 1890. It is expected that a new twenty years' lease, carefully drawn by the light of experience, will then be put up to public competition, or the Government must take charge of the whole business of killing the seals, curing the skins and sending them to market. Whichever course may be decided upon, the most thorough and careful guard over the islands must be kept up.

A MATTER FOR DIPLOMACY.

Under the existing lease, which exacts a rental of $55,000 per year and a royalty of $2.62 per skin, limiting the take of skins to 100,000 a year, the Alaska Company pay to the United States Treasury about $315,000 annually, which, after paying all the expenses of the Territory, yields more than 4 per cent. per annum on the purchase money paid to Russia for Alaska. To preserve this revenue through future years, the protection of the seals from illegal capture or disturbance on their annual visits to the islands is an absolute necessity; hence the prohibition against approaching or landing on the islands, and the vigilance of the United States revenue cruisers in the Behring Sea. How far our cruisers may be justified in detaining Canadian vessels that are found killing seals on the open sea miles away from the Alaskan islands or coasts, is a question which is likely to lead to disgussion between our own and the British Government.

ACTIVELY PURSUED BY VICTORIANS.

The killing of fur seals and the valuable sea otter in the waters of the Pacific is an industry which is quite actively pursued from Victoria, British Columbia, several small steamers and a fleet of schooners being engaged in the business. The temptation to pursue their game into the more northern seas is naturally alluring, and unless we can establish a clear right to exclude them from the Behring Sea they may give us trouble, particularly while the right to catch fish off the coasts of British North America is in dispute.

INTERESTED OFFICERS.

Stockholders of the Ordnance Factory of Sir William Armstrong, Mitchell & Co.

The London Chronicle of the 13th inst., publishes a partial list of the stockholders in the ordnance factory of Sir William Armstrong, Mitchell & Co., in proof of the charge that the army and navy officers are pecuniarly interested in the contracts of that firm with the government. In its introduction the Chronicle remarks, with some irony, that the facts are doubtless merely coincidental. There may be, and probably there is, a perfectly complete and satisfactory explanation of them, but the public would like to know what the explanation is. The first name on the list is that of Sir Frederic A. Abel, K. C. B. and F. R. S., Principal Chemist to the War Department at the Woolwich Arsenal, and a member of the Royal Engineering Committee. He is represented as holding fifteen shares of $500 each in the Armstrong-Mitchell Co. Colonel Chas. B. Brackenbury, R. A., late superintendent of the gunpowder factory at Waltham Abbey, is also put down for fifteen similar shares.

VICE-ADMIRAL HENRY BOYS,

late a member of the Ordnance Committee, holds six shares. Mr. O. N. Brooker, a Chief Inspector of Machinery afloat, is represented as holding thirty shares. Lieut.-General H. Hope Crealocke, lately retired, has to his credit twenty-nine shares. Major Jasper G. Davies, R. E., Assistant Director of Works at the War Office Pall Mall, stands for five shares. Mr. H. C. S. Xyer, who appears on the list as engineer of the Armstrong Works, has 220 shares, or an interest in the company of $115,000. Major Gen. F. W. Hastings, late R. A., has twenty shares, but his inferior rank Major C. Jones, retired R. A., and late Assistant Superintendent of the Royal Gun Factory at Woolwich, has two hundred shares, and Mrs. Jones has ten shares. Major Jones is farther interested in thirty-one shares, so that he has in reality 241 shares, value $120,000. The

MARQUIS OF LANSDOWNE,

Governor-General of Canada, and late under secretary for War, is the owner of 200 shares. The Right Hon. G. J. Shaw-Lefevre, M. P., formerly Postmaster-General, and late Secretary of the Admiralty, has ten shares. Lord Alcester, G. C. B., who was one of the sea lords at the Admiralty, holds twenty shares, value $10,000; the Rendel family, to which belongs Mr. George Wightwick Rendel, who was lent by the Elswick Company, as a great favor and with great flourish of trumpets, to the Admiralty as Second Civil Lord for two or three years at a salary of $10,000 a year, is well represented on the share list, Mr. Stuart Rendel alone being down for $803,000 in 1607 shares. Lord Sudely, a man of much influence, and late to the Queen, has 440 shares of $230,000 against his name, and a farther share in 60 shares more. Lord Thurlow, also a former Lord-in-Waiting to Her Majesty, likewise has 200 shares of of $500 each, while Lord Sudely's brother has 140 shares, representing $70,000. Lieut.-Gen. C. W. Younghusband, C. B., late R. A., and late superintendent of the Royal Gun factory, holds just 100 shares or $50,000 worth. Capt. Noble, C. B., late R. A., is one of the most largely interested persons in the Elswick Works, for he holds 2485 shares (valued at $1,242,500), besides 68 held by relatives.

There is every prospect of a very great scandal developing from the investigations now being made into contracts made for supplying the army and navy with ordnance, arms and ammunition during the last few years. Superhuman efforts are being made to keep back the facts, but public opinion is thoroughly aroused, and the truth is demanded, no matter who may be affected thereby.

PROVINCIAL RIGHT.

Commenting on the decision of the Supreme Court, in the Spreule case, the Montreal Herald says: "British Columbia and all the other provinces will breathe more freely, now that their right to punish criminals is not likely to be paralyzed by a judge sitting at Ottawa. It is to be hoped that this decision is final and that there will be no afterclaps. There will be an end to hanging, in fact to all punishment for crime, if sentenced criminals can be ordered back and forth between Ottawa and the most remote parts of the Dominion at the expense of the respective provinces. Besides, it is maintained by judges that if Judge Henry was right, hundreds of men have been illegally hanged and suits for damages could be brought by their heirs against the provincial authorities. It would never do to open such a door for the entertainment of the lawyers.

Hall & Quackenbush, Vancouver, B. C., have the most complete list of business and suburban properties for sale at the terminus of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Price and terms to suit all parties. Inquiries by mail promptly answered. References.

A Party of Victoria Gentlemen Take a Trip to Donald.

What They Saw of the Country—Condition of the Railway.

A few days since a party of gentlemen from this company composed of Messrs. W. C. Ward, Manager of the Bank of British Columbia, ex-Mayor Rithet, ex-Councillor Robert Ward and C. W. R. Thomson, Secretary and Manager of the Victoria Gas Light Company, took a trip up the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway as far as Donald. They went by way of Burrard Inlet from this city on one of the elegant steamers of the Canadian Pacific Navigation Company to Port Moody, where the cars were boarded. Punctual to the minute the train pulled out of the depot yards and in a few minutes was speeding along the track at an astonishingly rapid rate. Port Moody was soon left in the rear; the Coquitlam crossed and

HAMMOND REACHED,

The distance covered being 12 miles in 30 minutes. An opportunity was now given the gentlemen to make an examination of the carriage composing the transcontinental train as it flew along the banks of the Fraser. Surprise was expressed at the excellence of the equipment, the condition of the road-bed and the speed attained. The Pullman sleepers were equal, and in many respects superior to the best any of the party had hitherto seen anywhere. They were clean to a degree, while the atmosphere was fresh and the ventilation perfect. Nothing could excel the ease and comfort these coaches afford travelers. While occupying them they received every attention and civility from those in attendance. The first class coaches were also inspected and the improvements introduced by the C. P. R. management on these favorably commented upon. Double doors and lavatories are placed at each end of the coaches—a convenience the traveling public will appreciate. The emigrant's sleeping cars—known as second-class carriages—they found to be scrupulously clean, well ventilated and the accommodations for a long journey perfect, forming a marked contrast to that obtainable in crossing the continent years ago by many now in this city and throughout the province. The baggage, express and mail cars were also found to be modern in every particular. The conclusion arrived at was that the train on which the gentlemen named were travelers, a fac simile of the daily transcontinental service, was undoubtedly such a one as any company or country should be proud of.

EXCELLENT TIME MADE.

The distance between Port Moody and Donald is 446 miles and was accomplished in 26 hours, reaching their destination to the minute. Shortly after leaving Yale darkness set in so that the grand scenery of the Fraser canyons was not observable. They were up bright and early with the dawn of "old Sol." From the time they left Salmon Arm till reaching Revelstoke they were feasting in the gorgeous scenery through which they were passing. From Revelstoke (formerly Farwell) to Donald the distance is 79 miles by rail. Here is to be met the grandest of all scenery and for which this section has now become so famous. For a distance the track follows the meanderings of the Illecillewaet. The Glacier Hotel station is reached at a quarter past 1 o'clock p. m., (13:13 train time.) Here an inspection is made of the track and the precautions adopted to prevent any difficulty or stoppage to the train service for a snow fall or an ice slide. The company in this vicinity have 2,000 men at work on the snow slides, and about an equal number on construction scattered at different points throughout the mountains.

SUBSTANTIAL WORK.

Unless seen none would believe or form any conception of the substantial and durable nature of the work on these snow sheds. The timbers utilized are prepared at the company's own saw mill, which are portable and transferred from point to point as desired. They are so constructed as to lead to the belief that they will withstand any emergency, even to the crumbling of the very rocks. Night as well as day gangs are at work, the determination being to have all in readiness for the "fleecy beautiful," which is to be observed on the surrounding peaks towering up into the heavens far beyond the ordinary cloud line. The Victorians were impressed with the solidity of the bridges, the excellence of the road bed, the precautions on every hand taken to render travel easy and lives safe, and the vast engineering difficulties that had to be over come to carry the line along the Beaver, through Rogers Pass and the wonderful loop.

AT DONALD

they expected to find Mr. Vowell, the Gold Commissioner, but he was out in the mountains in company with the Hon. Mr. Smithe and Dr. Powell. They had to "brouse" around for accommodation for the night. Although very tired they did not rest much, so great was the noise and the frequent disturbances during the night. Donald is described as a thoroughly cosmopolitan city, thoroughly typical of western frontier life, especially where railway construction is in progress. The site for a city is a desirable one, and in time Donald will attain to considerable importance. In a short time, it is believed, the undesirable element of both sexes, now existing in great numbers in the place, will leave for fresh fields and more verdant pastures. On their return trip they left the following morning (Tuesday) for the coast. En route they passed several cattle trains bound east from the vicinity of Kamloops, from which point it was reported to them that already over 2,000 head had been shipped to the Northwest. The gentlemen report themselves as well pleased with the trip, which they claim will become a very popular one for Victorians, as well as for eastern tourists. With all they saw and heard of the resources of the country they were favorably impressed.

WISHES TO BE A BIRD.

The following is floating around amongst our eastern exchanges: A Chinaman who has been in the New Westminster, B. C., gaol under sentence of death when told that he was reprieved for a month expressed disappointment saying that after death his soul would inhabit the body of a bird and he was anxious for the transmigration to take place that he might peck out the eyes of whose who had testified against him.

LAND BILL DEFEATED.

Parnell's Measure Rejected by a vote of 297 to 202—A Stirring House.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—John Morley resumed the debate on the second reading of Parnell's land bill. He thought, he said, that Parnell in his speech last night had proved his case in regard to the fall in prices in Irish farm products. Morley contended the bill provided better machinery and a better method of answering the government's own question as to the necessity of relieving Irish tenants in some form other than the appointment of a royal commission. He believed also that the landlords of Ireland, not for the first time in history, were making a grievous mistake in allowing the bill to be rejected.

Chaplin, Conservative, opposed the bill. He taunted Gladstone and Morley with again using an argument of fear.

Lord Hartington regretted that he was unable to support Gladstone's conclusion. He said there was little doubt the time had arrived for a full inquiry into the agrarian question of Ireland. The government never meant to institute such inquiry. Yet, pending this investigation, Gladstone was prepared to take action on Parnell's bill which only last August he (Gladstone) argued would be unfair.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach declared that the bill, if passed, would not be received in the south and west of Ireland as a temporary measure.

Sir Wm. Vernon Harcourt said that he thought the House and the country would note the alarming tone of defiance and menance with which the Chief Secretary for Ireland embarked on his mission of peace. "Lord Hartington," continued the speaker, "is alone to-night, like the 'Last Rose of Summer.' (Laughter.) Where were his companions? Where was Chamberlain? The Liberal Union did not seem to be much of a Liberal Union after all. The Liberal party would follow its old policy and do what it could to avert the great dangers which the policy of the government threatened."

Parnell's land bill was rejected by a vote of 297 to 202.

All the Gladstonians supported the Parnellites. The Unionists voted with the government.

THE SPANISH REVOLT.

MADRID, Sept. 21.—All of the officers implicated in yesterday's attempt at a revolution have been condemned to death. A band of rebels at Ocana, in the province of Toledo, killed their commanding officer, and then returned to their allegiance, and prayed for mercy. The common soldiers who took part in the uprising generally, repent their folly to-day, and blame the officers for leading them astray. Soldiers are everywhere yielding to the authorities. In the province of Toledo, two bands of rebels, however, still hold out. They are trying to reach the Gudaina mountains, and a force of loyal troops have been sent in pursuit of them. The city is quiet to-day.

PARIS, Sept. 21.—The Gaulois publishes an interview with Senor Martos, President of the Spanish Cortes, in which he says that Sunday night's revolt was not political, but purely financial, inspired and fomented by bourse speculators.

THE RINGLEADERS.

SOFIA, Sept. 21.—The committee appointed to examine into and report upon the circumstances of the recent coup 'd etat, have concluded their investigation. They pronounce Karsarloff, Nikoforuff and Stankoff jointly criminal and responsible for the affair, and recommend that all three be suspended from parliamentary immunity. The Sobranje at its next meeting will decide what further steps, if any, shall be taken against the three conspirators.

THE FISHERY EMBROGLIO.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Mr. Ferguson, Under Foreign Secretary, announced in the Commons this p. m. that personal communications were passing in London between the representatives of Her Majesty's government and the U. S. minister in the direction of a removal of the friction between fishing interests of the United States and Canada, arising out of defects in the present treaties.

AFTER THE PARNELLITES.

Lord Churchill gave notice of the intention of the government to introduce early next session measures for a considerable modification in the present method of conducting public business in the Commons. The announcement was accepted as portending further repressive measures against the Parnellites.

A FREE AMERICAN?

TANGIERS, Sept. 21.—The diplomatic corps here have held several meetings, to discuss the case of Ion Perdicaris, a resident American citizen, who has been imprisoned by American Consul Matthews. Perdicaris alleges that his imprisonment is without just cause.

A BIG SCHEME.

PARIS, Sept. 22.—A syndicate of Paris and Berlin bankers have subscribed six hundred million francs to carry out a scheme, sanctioned by the Sultan for a net work of railways to connect the Black Sea with the Persian Gulf under direction of the Austrian Engineer Pressel.

LAST NIGHT'S VOTE.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Thirty-one Unionists voted with the Tories last night against Parnell's Land Bill, while ninety-six members paired.

BELFAST QUIET.

BELFAST, Sept. 22.—The city is quiet to-day, and no signs apparent of fresh trouble.

THE AUSTRIAN PARLIAMENT.

VIENNA, Sept. 21.—The Reichsrath has been summoned to meet on Sept. 19th.

GLADSTONE.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—Mr. Gladstone will leave London for Hawardon to-morrow.

SOCIALIST PUNISHED.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 21.—Gul, the Socialist, has been condemned to imprisonment for shooting Police Commissary Storcek.

RECOVERING.

ROME, Sept. 21.—Cardinal Jacobini, Papal Secretary of State, critically ill for several days, is now better.

STILL TREMBLING.

CHARLESTON, Sept. 21.—It is reported that one of the walls of the medical college, already wrecked, was thrown down by this morning's shock. A colored man was injured by the falling wall.

ESQUIMALT

To be Made an Impregnable Harbor and a Depot for Munitions of War.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 22.—Colonel Black, of the Imperial army, is in the city, having returned from the Pacific Coast. While he was not willing to go into figures, he states that it is the intention of the government to make Esquimalt an impregnable harbor, and also to make it an important depot for munitions of war.

KEELED OVER AND SANK.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Sept. 22.—During a violent southerly gale last night the schooner Little Gem was struck by a land squall off head land keeled over and sunk. She was loaded with flour. The disaster occurred off the precipitous cliffs of Black Head in Buena Vista Bay. Two lady passengers were drowned. The crew were saved by clinging to the bottom of small boats.

THE BLACK WATCH

Attacked by a Belfast Mob—A Purely Religious Fight—Perilous Situation.

BELFAST, Sept. 21.—Rioting was resumed at dinner time at the junction of Northumberland and the Falls road by Catholic mill hands stoning the police on duty to keep the Orange Queen's Island ship men from coming in contact with the mill hands. The stoning was so heavy and skillful that the police had to retreat as far as Shank Hill. Here they were reinforced and drove the mob back, capturing a number on the way. While this battle was going on another mob in another locality attacked with stones the Black Watch regiment of Scotsmen, although the soldiers were fully armed and in fighting array. The troops, with fixed bayonets, charged in double quick time on the mob and drove them from the scene, wounding great numbers of rioters and arresting two. Still another mob got into a fight in a tramway car stable, and surging out into the street threw a passing car from the track and overturned it. The car was at the time filled with passengers. The mob that overturned this car evidently had not intended to do it. They were fighting a purely religious fight, but the locality was infested with rowdies, and when these loafers saw the car filled with passengers they fusilluded it with stones. The terror-stricken passengers crowded close under the seats and under one another and shielded themselves as best they could with mats and seat sections. Several were hurt. The situation was perilous until the military rescued them and escorted them to a place of safety.

THE BULGARIAN QUESTION.

In the Commons this afternoon, Lord Randolph Churchill, replying to questions, said that in the event of a rising in Bulgaria, which he did not apprehend, the British government would act constitutionally and advise the crown to act as in their opinion would be best calculated to protect the interests of the people.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, chief secretary for Ireland, stated that the government commission to inquire into the working of the land act of 1881 would consist of Earl Cowper (chairman), Earl Mellown, Sir James Caird, Judge O'Hagan and George Cottrell.

AN IMPERIAL INSTITUTE.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—The Prince of Wales sent a letter to the Lord Mayor, suggesting as a suitable memorial of the Queen's Jubilee, the establishment of a permanent Imperial, Colonial and Indian Institute on the basis the present exhibition for the promotion of emigration and expansion of Colonial trade. For this purpose he proposed a fund to be opened at Mansion house, the proceeds should be vested in a body by trustees to be appointed by the Queen and that the heir apparent be made president of the Institute. The Lord Mayor in reply said it would give him the greatest pleasure to allow the people of the empire to testify to their love of the Queen.

MINING ACCIDENT.

SCRANTON, Sept. 21.—Supt. Nichols went into the Marion shaft and found the dead bodies of six of the eight men who were imprisoned in the mine by the cave in, which occurred on Monday. The bodies were found in the gangway, where the missing men were supposed to be gathered when the fall occurred. They were not crushed, and lay as if the men had gone to sleep. Decomposition was far advanced. The entombed men had evidently been suffocated upon after the accident.

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 22.—Martin Irons, leader in the strike last spring in the moulder system, was brought here from Kansas City to-day by Sheriff Skidmore to stand trial on a charge of complicity in the noted wire-tapping affair. The Grand Master Workman was interviewed in regard to his second arrest in Kansas City for drunkenness, and he stated he was not drunk at the time he was arrested by an officer who arrested him for vagrancy and upon examination on that charge it was withdrawn, and he was maliciously arrested for drunkenness. He says it was a put-up scheme to bring himself and the Knights of Labor into disrepute.

SOVEREIGN OFFICERS.

BOSTON, Sept. 21.—The following officers for the ensuing year were elected to-day by the Sovereign Grand Lodge of Oddfellows, now in session in this city: Grand Sire, John H. White, New York; Deputy Grand Sire, J. C. Underwood, Kentucky; Grand Secretary, L. A. Ross, New Jersey; Grand Treasurer, A. B. Shepard, Pennsylvania.

KNIGHTS TEMPLARS.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 21.—In consequence of the severe rain storm which set in early this forenoon, it was decided to abandon the grand parade of Knights Templars so far this forenoon.

AT LAST A WINNER.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The regatta committee gave the Newport races to the Galatea, Mayflower, Stranger and Cinderella in the order named.

CONSERVATIVE DEMONSTRATION.

The Conservative demonstration at London, Ontario, on the 16th, is reported a success. All such gatherings are a success, according to the optics of those in affinity with the managers having charge of bringing together a crowd to hear the leaders of either party ventilating their version of the questions which divide parties in Canada, as in other countries. The London gathering was held in the Queen's park, and is reported to have been attended by at least 5,000 people. A few days previously the report was heralded throughout the country that 7,000 people had attended a political picnic in Eastern Ontario in honor of the Liberal leaders, Hon. Messrs. BLAKE, MOWAT and ROSS. This gathering was in a rural constituency. The London one was held in a city claiming a population of 35,000 souls, and surrounded by the most densely settled section in Canada. There certainly should have been a much larger attendance, for great preparations had been made for the occasion. It appears that the elements were not in sympathy with the affair, for notwithstanding the presence of Sir JOHN MACDONALD, Canada's premier and its Grand Old Man, Hon. Messrs. THOMPSON, CHAPLEAU, CARLING, Mr. MEREDITH and many other Conservative lights, the demonstration was unfortunately brought to a premature close by a violent thunder storm and rain. The meeting was adjourned till the evening, when the Princess rink was occupied by a great audience anxious to hear the distinguished visitors. We are told that the speeches of the premier and his fellow ministers elicited frequent and loud applause. Sir JOHN dealt with the issues of the day and pointed to the success, both of the national policy and the Canadian Pacific railway policy. He referred to the subserviency of the Reform press, and said the Conservative press, on the other hand, was independent. It was an able press and was entirely free from party control. For this reason he did not feel bound to be held responsible for what it said. He and his Government would only answer for what they had uttered themselves in parliament or on the platform. He mentioned this because he differed altogether from the recent letters or articles in the Mail touching the ecclesiastical system in Quebec. One of the complaints made in the letters or articles was with reference to the system of tithes in that province. That system was really a good system; under it religion was supported, and under it, too, those who differed from the Roman Catholic Church were relieved of any claim to contribute to the support of that church; but if it was a bad system, and people did not like it, they were in a position themselves to change it. It was, in fact, a question with which Ontario had nothing to do. Hon Mr. THOMPSON, Minister of Justice, followed. He referred briefly to the RIEL case, and repudiated the statement of those who said that because he could not call RIEL a martyr he was a traitor to his church. RIEL was really a persecutor of the church, and he could not be a martyr. He described the Reform policy as that of rebellion in the Northwest, slander in Ontario, revenge in Quebec and secession in Nova Scotia. These were the evil influences with which it set out to invite the public confidence, and these influences must be met by all loyal men. Hon Mr. CHAPLEAU, in the course of a brief but eloquent address, once more defined his position on the RIEL question. He created quite a sensation by reading the depositions of MAXIMO LEPINE and PARENTEAU in which they swore that RIEL had told them that five hundred volunteers were coming to outrage their families and destroy their homes. He closed his speech with a splendid peroration in which he declared that that great meeting would inspire him with a greater desire than ever to do his duty to his party, his country and his sovereign. Speeches were also delivered by Hon. Mr. CARLING and Mr. MEREDITH.

Chicago is one of the richest and most ostentatious cities in the United States, and yet a day or two ago a Chicago woman attempted to murder her two little children and then committed suicide because she could not get bread for her starving offspring. Poverty and wealth seem to be linked together under republican as well as monarchical institutions.

HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL.

A few days since it was announced in these columns that at the request of Hon. JOHN CARLING, Minister of Agriculture, Mr. WILLIAM SAUNDERS, of London, had undertaken the experiment of shipping a quantity of our fine early apples to England. The reason which prompted the experiment were these: It was known that the export trade in apples had grown very materially within the past ten years, and that the demand in England showed no signs of abatement. The varieties sent over, however, were only of the most hardy character, possessing long keeping qualities and capable of standing the rough treatment of being shipped in barrels. These varieties were not our best. Large quantities of early apples, capable of being grown in many parts of the Dominion, were excluded from the British market, for the reason that they could not be laid down in England in presentable shape. The men engaged in the business were moved by the single motive of making money, and it was therefore but natural that they should not embark in an undertaking so full of risk and uncertainty. When Mr. SAUNDERS was in England, in charge the splendid fruit exhibit at the Colonial and Indian Exhibition, he saw large quantities of apples arriving from Australia, and finding a ready sale in the London market. He ascertained that these varieties had been well preserved in the refrigerator steamers plying between Great Britain and the Antipodes, and were, taken altogether, inferior to many of the kinds developed to perfection in our Canadian climate. He therefore reported to Hon. Mr. CARLING, that with a shorter route in favor of the Dominion and the fruit available in ample quantities, he believed our foreign trade might be added to in this respect, by demonstrating to shippers the possibilities of laying down our early varieties in London, Eng. The Minister of Agriculture immediately directed him to undertake the necessary experiments. He lost no time in beginning operations. He procured a sufficient quantity of varieties he thought most suitable for the purpose, and finding that valuable time would be lost in having refrigerators built he sent forward his first consignment by express. The apples were packed in boxes holding one bushel each, and care was taken to permit a free circulation of air in the coolest part of the vessel. He has just received a cable announcing that the fruit arrived in excellent condition and found a ready sale at the rate of $1.75 per bushel. With this result he is well satisfied, and says it fully proves the possibility of shipping these varieties which were heretofore consumed in the country because of their liability to early decay. Fruit growers may now proceed with confidence to cultivate an increased number of the trees bearing these varieties, feeling that an almost unlimited market is open to them. Further shipments it is understood, are under way, and the usefulness of refrigerators will also be tested, not only with apples, but other fruits now coming into maturity. Last year we exported 246,000 barrels of apples, and if this already large trade can be added to, it will be a matter of no small importance to the fruit growers of the Dominion.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

THE Dominion Government have commenced buying up and slaughtering all the cattle belonging to the farmers in the immediate vicinity of the Lovis quarantine. The authorities are bound to stamp out the disease.

MONTREAL Star: It appears to be as difficult to hang a United States citizen in Canada as it is in the United States. An appeal to the Privy Council is now talked of in Sproule's case. After using this man to demonstrate so many nice legal points, humanity forbids the thought of carrying out the capital sentence.

A FISHERY trouble has broke out on Lake Erie, and thence the piscatorial war is to be carried. The attention of the Canadian Customs department has been drawn to irregularities on an extensive scale committed by American vessels, and the department is said to be on the point of enacting distinct regulations to cover the difficulty. If there were more distinct regulations in our Customs Department there would be fewer seizures.

SAYS the Montreal Herald: Seafaring men in British Columbia have long ago declared that there are codfish banks to the west of Vancouver Island, and an exploring party has been sent out to gather the facts bearing on the matter. Cod have frequently been caught in the Straits of Georgia, and the point to be determined is whether they are in the neighborhood in any large quantities. The fisheries of British Columbia will probably be found to be more extensive than is generally imagined, for hitherto the fishing has been of an unsystematic kind and mainly confined to the Straits.

THE New York Times observes that the officers of the law in that city, Newark, and elsewhere, have obtained proof that the roller skating rinks that were numerous not long ago, were in many instances nurseries of vice. When the rink "fever" was at its height it was generally known that those places of amusement were exerting a baneful influence upon persons who had not come to the age of discretion, and for that reason they were opposed; but the full extent of that influence upon those of tender years was not seen by the public until a recent date. The Times hints that it is very pernicious.

—Parties wishing to invest in Port Moody property will have an opportunity of so doing by calling on Captain W. R. Clarke, at his saleroom, Yates street, where prices, conditions and all other information can be obtained. The property offered is on the Clarke estate, and is considered to be the most valuable in the port.

The Working Girls of New York.

If any person has a desire to know just how much human nature can endure, and yet live on, he has but to investigate the actual condition of the working girls of New York, and by that time it will seem wonderful that the rivers are not full of despairing suicides. In one house live twenty-two working girls, not all of one family nor all of the same trade, and yet all belonging to one sisterhood of suffering, so that the song of the shirt might with equal propriety be sung of them all, as far as their misery is concerned.

The younger girls of families, or sisters of those who work in the harder trades either go to learn trades or else work at paper box making, at which they earn about $1.50 per week, or making pills for druggists, which pays about the same, or else as cash girls in stores, or capping and labeling medicine bottles and packing proprietary medicines. The labor in all these different businesses is light, with the exception of that of the cash girls, which is a strain that few strong men could bear under the most favorable conditions, and when is taken into consideration the fact that these girls are just passing the most critical period of their lives, when good, wholesome food, outdoor exercise and tranquil minds are needs imperatively demanded by the system, it is the cruelest burden to lay upon them. The constant nervous strain, the hurrying to and fro in heated, crowded places, the scoldings and fear of fines, and the improper food they get, let alone its insufficiency, makes it a wonder one of them lives through it.—New York Mail and Express.

A Short Chat About Oatmeal.

No one can live long in a Scotch community without noticing the healthful look of the children, whose food consists largely of oatmeal, compared with those fed on fine grains, or oven groats, which are the same, only without the husks. This chaff or husk, however, which is left in the meal, contains some points that act as a stimulant on the coats of the bowels to keep them active without medicine, and render this food of great benefit to the dyspeptic. There is no method of cooking oatmeal equal to the making of porridge, and when properly prepared it is generally a favorite dish for breakfast. "What makes your oatmeal porridge so good?" is a frequent question in our house from strangers, and they think the meal must be of superior quality. But to prepare it properly the water must be boiling, necessary salt added, and the oatmeal then stirred in slowly by sifting it through the fingers. The process must not be hurried if lumps would be avoided. When it begins to boil up well, stop stirring and close the pot tightly. Set at the back of the stove while you cook the rest of the breakfast. Lift the porridge without any more stirring, as it is this that breaks the grain and makes it waxy. The Scotch do not stir with a spoon, but with a smooth, flattened stick called a "spurtle," that any one can make according to their own idea. This gives more evenness to the mixing, and if cooked in this way the porridge will be sweet, whole-grained, and wholesome.—Annie L. Jack, in Good Housekeeping.

"Punch and Judy" is Degrading.

No sane parent would paper a child's bedroom with representations of murders and executions from The Police Gazette, and yet the exhibition of Punch and Judy offers this and nothing more, and does it in the pernicious form of action instead of picture. From beginning to end the performance has not one redeeming trait. All the fun lies in the fact that Punch successively knocks on the head or otherwise slaughters his baby, his wife, the doctor, the policeman, the servant, and such others as the varying ingenuity of the operator may introduce, that he counts the corpses over, hustles them about, and stuffs them into coffins with every form of irreverence; that for these offenses he is haunted by ghosts, executed by hangmen, and dragged down by demons. It is not strange that there should be city precincts so degraded that this sort of thing should just meet the public taste. In the old time Seven Dials of London or Five Points of New York it might seem at home, and perhaps be regarded as a moral exhibition. The strange thing is that it should be selected by refined and high minded parents for the delectation of innocent children amid the roses and perfumes of summer gardens.—"T. W. H." in Harpers' Bazar.

Do Women Demand too Much?

For myself I do not blame any woman for expecting or getting everything that is pretty or enjoyable, and therefore her birthright. What does make me sick at heart, though, is to see a member of my own sex demand everything and give nothing but the barest bonsai honor in return. There is rarely a woman who does not look the comelier for smiling; there is certainly not one in existence, no matter how cherished, who wouldn't do the better loved for returning a favor with at least a pleasant word, and a kindness with a smile. Why is it? Oh, why is it that more girls are not brought up not only with the idea more clearly shown that more flies can be caught with sugar in a day than a spider can catch with a web in a week, but also that the fly likes the sugar immensely, while he is more than likely to lose one or both wings in the web? It is well that a man should have a head, and it is well that he should have a heart, but he is not "real nice to live with" unless his wings are perfect.—Cor. New York Graphic.

The Risk of Cleaning Pictures.

The question of picture cleaning is one of the most complicated that can be. Suppose you leave a very dirty picture as it is, do you see, can you possibly see, what the artist painted? Assuredly not. And why should decent people tolerate dirty pictures when they will not tolerate a dirty tablecloth? The answer is that, if the picture could be cleaned as safely as the tablecloth, it would be done without hesitation, but that cleaning may possibly remove light glazes and scumblings along with the varnish, and that if those glazes, the finishing work of the artist, are once removed, no human being, except the artist who painted the picture, can replace them, says an acknowledged authority. But by the time a picture urgently wants cleaning the painter has generally been for many years in his grave. Therefore, in having a picture cleaned, you are risking that which cannot be replaced.—New York Journal.

Women in Industrial Occupations.

The proportion of women who engage in occupations outside the household is smaller in the United States than in foreign countries, but in no country is the proportionate number engaged in superior industrial occupations equal to that in this country. Of the 2,647,000 women in work without the shelter, 550,000 of them are engaged in agriculture, most of them colored women in the southern states; 622,000 of them are in manufactories, of whom about one-half are in New York, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania; 282,000 are milliners, etc., and 53,000 are tailors. Of the forty-four occupations recorded as "personal service," forty find women in them. The 525 female surgeons and physicians in 1870 have increased to 2,474, the 7 lawyers to 75, the 63 clergymen to 165; the number of laundries from 61,000 in 1870 to 122,000, and 108,000 of these are kept by women.—Chicago Tribune.

Care of Babies in Summer.

The increase in infant mortality has caused the health board, in a circular signed by Gen. Shaler, to call the attention of parents to the care of babies. Under the heading of "Nursing of Infants" it says:

"Over feeding does more harm than anything else. Nurse an infant a month or two old every two or three hours.

"Nurse an infant of six months and over five times in twenty-four hours, and no more.

"If an infant is thirsty, give it pure water or barley water; no sugar.—New York Sun.

WOMAN AND HOME.

GOOD MANNERS AMONG GIRLS AND BOYS IN FRANCE.

Physical Development—An Expert in Human Hair—Oatmeal—Old Newspapers—"Punch and Judy"—Working Girls—Cleaning Pictures.

I must not forget our children. It would be gross ingratitude. They were agreeable and very good little people, and helped me to pass many hours pleasantly. It seems to me that I never saw a cross, or uncivil, or disobedient French child. There is no fretting among the girls and no fighting among the boys. They are nicely mannered, too; less shy and awkward than the Anglo-Saxon youngster is apt to be; quicker in speech, in salutations, and in the small courtesies of their age. It was pretty to see these boys and girls greet each other of a morning. Marcelle, who was 12 years old, put out her cheek to be kissed by Henri, who was 11 years old; then, without any blushing, without any awkward consciousness, they linked hands and ran to join their comrades.

All were confiding and affectionate, and evidently liked to be petted and kissed by their elders, whether these were male or female. Yet there was a kind of etiquette in the manner of receiving a salutation. Marie, who was 14, offered her forehead to a gentleman; her two younger sisters offered the cheek; little Camille put up her lips. I was struck with the delicacy of our Tunisian in bidding farewell to our juveniles. He kissed the boys on the cheek and then shook hands with the girls, saying to each, "Adieu, mademoiselle." I, sinner, that I am, and by no means a young sinner, was less considerate. I kissed all the girls up to 14, and then kissed the boys by way of penance.

One characteristic of these small ladies struck me as specially commendable, and even downright wonderful. They seemed to have no vanity of dress; they wore frayed and faded frocks without shame or fretting; even on Sundays they were resigned and smiling in plain muslin or alpaca. Monsieur B., as I was told, could show his millions of francs; yet his daughters, 10, 12 and 14 years old, romped about in well-worn calico and darned hosiery, the skirts and stockings both so outgrown that not seldom one would see a patch of rosy knee between the top of the one and the bottom of the other. I fear that the female offspring of an American capitalist would not put on such frugal toilets without a deal of sulking and whimpering. But parental authority still counts for something in France, and in Europe generally. Economy, too, is as yet respectable and widely practised. Finally, there is the need of putting aside a dowry to insure the marriage of a daughter, and the little demoiselles themselves would rather dress in sackcloth than face the probability of old-maidenhood.—La Bauche (France) Cor. New York Post.

An Expert in Human Hair.

Mme. Shaw is an expert in human hair. She studied the subject.

"Ah," said she, "why is it you ladies of New York, and the American women generally, are so careless about your hair, and if you have lost it, why so economical in purchasing this adornment? You do not hesitate in giving ten, twenty or more dollars for 'a love of a bonnet,' but will hesitate in buying the artistic arrangements in hair made to supply nature's defects, and that are so essentially necessary for your good appearance."

"That is a novel idea," said the reporter, "but doubtless you are correct. Tell me why we lose our hair while young and otherwise hearty."

"Oh, for many reasons. First, you do not take proper care of it. Foreign women of all classes wash, comb and brush their hair frequently. Take a practical illustration. Mrs. Blank notices that the tails of her carriage horses grow shorter and thinner every day and asks John the reason for it. He professes not to know. She then goes to the dealer from whom she purchased the horses. He quickly replies, 'It is because your coachman neglects to wash, cut, comb and trim their tails.'

"So," says madame, "it is gross neglect with you ladies. You give more attention to any other part of your person than the locks which should be your crown of beauty. And you are in a hurry; you have so many distractions. Your mothers and women twice your age have many of them luxuriant hair, for when they were young it was still the custom to brush the hair at night and wash the scalp frequently. Ladies cover their bald heads, but if they did not what a droll sight any ordinary audience would present."—New York Journal.

The Physical Development of Women.

Any one who carefully notices the women seen upon New York streets and places of amusement will be struck by the large number of robust girls and women of great physical development. This is to be attributed, we think, to more general knowledge of the laws of health, to the improvement in the quality and preparation of food, and to sanitary conditions, and to increased participation in outdoor sports.

But these conditions do not prevail to the same extent in the country as in the city, and a warning against undue optimism has followed the encouraging opinions of the Boston surgeon. In a recent commencement address, Gen. Stewart L. Woodford has again called attention to the unfavorable features of the life of farmers' wives; their isolation; the imposition of an amount of work which saps their vitality; their poor food; their lack of change and recreation, and the tendency, which naturally follows, to brooding over religious or other subjects. The result is a discouragingly large percentage of insanity among the women of rural neighborhoods. Attempts to substitute farming villages for scattered farmhouses, to introduce social recreations, and like efforts have been made or suggested again and again, but the fact remains that the women of the city is usually more healthful and has more vitality than the woman of the country. There is a problem here still for our physicians and students of sociology. But it is pleasant to be assured by competent experts that the charge that American women are composed merely of skin and bone, and nerves and brain is no longer justified.—Frank Leslie's.

Good Uses for Old Newspapers.

All old newspapers should be saved, folded neatly and given a place in some closet or on a shelf. They can be used for packing china, glass or tin, and they are the best possible articles for cleaning windows or mirrors; in fact, nothing polishes glass as newspaper does. Take a newspaper, or a part of one, according to the size of the glass. Fold it small and dip it into a pail of clean, cold water; when thoroughly wetted squeeze it out in your hands as you would a sponge, and then rub it hard all over the face of the glass, taking care, if it is a mirror, that it is not so wet that the moisture will stream down the glass, also that no drops get beneath the frame and behind the glass, as they will remain there in bubbles and cannot be dislodged without removing the board at the back. But there is no danger of such accidents if the newspaper is merely moistened or dampened throughout. After the glass has been rubbed well with damp paper, leave for a minute or two; then take a fresh paper folded small in your hand and rub the glass thoroughly with it until it looks clear and bright, which will be surprisingly soon—almost immediately, in fact. Finish with a fresh piece of newspaper, thoroughly dry. This method, simple as it is, will be found on trial the best and most expeditious way of cleaning mirrors or any plate glass, giving a clearness and polish which cannot be so soon produced by any other process. Window panes may be cleaned in this manner, also the glasses of spectacles. The glass globe of a lamp may also be thus cleaned. The efficacy is attributed to the materials used in making the printing ink. Besides this, one is always wanting paper for singeing fowl, lighting fires, etc.—Philadelphia Call.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

While the TIMES is always prepared to give publicity to the views of correspondents on any question of interest to the public, provided facts are given, couched in unobjectionable language, we wish it to be understood that we do not hold ourselves responsible for the views expressed by the writers thereof.

Nor can we give room to duplicates of letters that have appeared in our contemporaries either in this city or elsewhere in the province. Correspondents, therefore, will save time and trouble in preparing such for THE TIMES, as they will be rejected.

Our space is valuable, and brevity, as far as possible, should be observed in writing on any topic, and on ONE SIDE of the sheet only.

CITY AND PROVINCE.

—Ice cream in quantities to suit, delivered in any part of the city by Young Bros., New England Bakery.

—Thirty-six cases eastern rubbers, all new styles, just received at the CITY BOOT and SHOE STORE.

—Fidelity Hams and Bacon are the best in the market, at NEUFELDER & ROSS.

—Photographic views along the line of the C. P. R. in B. C., for sale at R. MAYNARD'S, Douglas St.

—Cacao Chouao, Benedictine, Chartreuse, Parfait Amour, veritable liqueurs at Neufelder & Ross'.

—Lily Williams, otherwise known as the "Lily of the Valley," was sent down for three months for vagrancy at the police court to-day.

—Sheriff McMillan adjourned the exchequer court until to-morrow at 1 p. m. Judge Henry and the Sheriff afterwards took a drive to Esquimalt.

—DENTISTRY.—W. J. Quinlan, D. D. S., has removed to the rooms formerly occupied by Dr. West, over Denny's store, Victoria Block.

—On Monday, 20th inst., some cranes, flying high were noticed near town, wending their way southward. Some farmers anticipate a mild winter. Quien sabe?

—The Electric and Blue Mottled Soaps turned out by Pendray & Co. are absolutely pure—will wash the finest fabrics without damaging them or burning the hands. Try them.

—The Chilliwhack agricultural show will be held at Centreville next Tuesday, 28th inst. There, no doubt, will be a large attendance of people of that section present on the forthcoming occasion.

—Mrs. E. J. Miller receives pupils in oil painting, drawing, crayon and decorative work. Room 19, Bank of British Columbia building, Government St.

—F. C. Innes & Co., Real Estate Brokers, and Financial Agents, Vancouver, B. C., attend promptly to all enquiries about the terminal city; Free Reading Room for use of strangers arriving in Vancouver.

—Before furnishing your house call on SHORE & ANDERSON and examine their stock of bargains in furniture. Furniture repaired, also mattresses repaired and returned on one day's notice; Douglas streets, opposite City Hall.

—Already the name of Captain Robinson is mentioned in connection with the representation of the New Westminster District in the Commons, in room of the late Mr. Homer. It is probable a number of aspirants will be in the field.

—Mr. N. G. Johnson desires to intimate to his numerous friends that he has bought a half interest in the NEW YORK RESTAURANT with Mr. Chris Nelson, where he will be pleased to meet them. Everything in first-class style; come and see us. NELSON & JOHNSON.

—His Worship Mayor Fell denies the statement of "new comer" in yesterday's TIMES. Our worthy chief magistrate is ever watchful and awake, and an occasional doze by him, even when under the gaze of the public, is like into a "cat's sleep," with but only one eye shut.

—The select list of local newspapers controlled by George P. Rowell & Co., 10 Spruce street, New York, is composed of the best daily and weekly papers outside the large cities and covers the whole country. Orders are taken for single States and at astonishingly low prices. Catalogues are sent free.

—The Toronto World says that "the City Surveyor of Winnipeg has been delivered of the opinion that whitewashing one's own house on Sunday is not Sabbath desecration, yet down here in this effete east we fine a man for painting the town red on work days. O for a whitewashed home in the free and fearless west!" Then, why don't you come west, young man?

During their trip in the mountains Messrs. Ward, Bithet and Thompson were joined by Sir Richard Cartwright ex-Finance Minister, and with that gentleman had some hours' conversation. The gallant knight of Kingston was full of politics and expatiated considerably on the part he had taken in floating Canada's bonds wherewith to give the C. P. R. a start.

—A Port Townsend correspondent says: To illustrate the volume of business done by American tug boats both in American and British waters, it was observed by one of our pilots who was at the time sailing a ship up the straits, that from the time he got on board the ship to the time he left her in Fort Townsend bay, four days after, not a tug boat approached the vessel, though the captain would willingly have given $500 for the services of a tug boat. All the tugs were engaged towing in the upper sound.

ILLEGAL LIQUOR SELLING.

Ross Ferguson, proprietor of the C. P. R. saloon, on Johnson street, was charged in the police court to-day with carrying on the business of liquor selling without a license. The original license for the premises at the corner was granted to T. Nicholson, who transferred it to Muirhead & Carter, who are at present doing a retail trade under it. The C. P. R. Saloon is in a building adjoining and connected with Muirhead & Carter's, and Mr. Nicholson, believing that he had the right to sell liquors under the license transferred to M. & C., rented the saloon along with the right to sell to McLean and subsequently to Howe, who, two weeks ago, sold out to the defendant, Ross Ferguson, for the sum of $500. The sale of liquor was proven, and the court held that the charge was sustained and fined defendant $105, the lowest the law allows. Mr. T. Davie appeared for Ferguson; Mr. S. P. Mills watched the case for Muirhead & Carter, and Supt. Bloomfield conducted the prosecution.

FINE PIANOS.

The Splendid Display Made by Heintzman & Co., of Toronto, who are Represented in Victoria by M. W. Waitt & Co.

Messrs. M. W. Waitt & Co., of this city, who are sole agents in British Columbia for the sale of the famous Heintzman piano, at their musical ware-rooms on Fort street, have in stock an assortment of these instruments, which are deserving of attention and inspection by the public, especially those about purchasing a high class instrument, which here can be had at a reasonable figure. Referring to the display made by the company at the Toronto Industrial show, the Globe says:

Probably no manufacturing firm in the Dominion has done more to make the name of Canada so widely and favorably known than that of Heintzman & Co., piano forte manufacturers, of this city. The immense success which they have achieved at the Colonial and Indian Exhibition, now being held in London, England, is ample proof of this assertion. In speaking of the musical exhibit in its June issue, the Piano, Organ and Music Trades Journal says:

"Messrs. H. & Co.'s exhibit at the Colonial and Indian Exhibition is creating quite a sensation amongst the musical profession of London and the Continent, everyone seems to be astonished "to see such beautiful pianos as these "manufactured in Canada; the power and "quality of tone throughout the whole "scale is really beautiful, the touch is "also light and sympathetic, and Canada "can well be proud to be able to produce "such fine instruments as these."

Messrs. H. & Co., can readily be pardoned for feeling a conscious pride in being thus criticized by so competent a judge as the Music Trades Journal. Their exhibit at the Industrial Exhibition this year is fully up to their usual standard. They are showing eight instruments, one parlor grand, one square grand, and six uprights, and for quality of tone, beauty of finish and elegance of design cannot be surpassed. The parlor grand being the most expensive deserves our first attention. The case is of rich dark rosewood, with the new style of legs and lyre, its beauty of finish and excellence of tone fully justify the praises lavished upon it. One sent by this firm to the Colonial and Indian Exhibition, the exact counterpiece of this which, at the request of Sir Attwood Matthews, Bart. of Prontriclas Court, Herefordshire, was thoroughly tested along with Messrs. Steinway & Broadwood Pianos, by Mr. William Parrott, organist, and Rev. Mr. Trenholm, curate at Windsor Castle, and on their report was purchased by him. Two upright grands, one finished in French burl walnut, another in very rich rosewood, attract attention, as also do three cabinet grands, one finished in American blister walnut, another in rosewood, and still another in ebony. All these are beautifully designed, have a strong, powerful, and at the same time very rich and sweet tone; all these have patent bridge, desk, and action, whereby all the friction is removed, making it less liable for action to get stiff through dampness. A new departure in design is a small upright finished in mahogany and amaranth (also known as purple) wood. It is a great favorite with the public, and considering the size of instrument, the volume of tone is something remarkable. The square grand is, as in the case of all their square pianos, unsurpassable. On the whole the exhibit is one that reflects great credit on the firm and fully sustains the enviable reputation they have made for themselves.

LOWEST RATE EVER OFFERED.

The Portland Oregonian of the 20th says: The success attending the opening of this new transcontinental line has created quite a disturbance amongst the older established lines, who did not anticipate serious competition from this source until the tourist season commenced. But the trains leaving daily for Puget Sound with passengers ticketed via the Canadian Pacific for the East, means this new and independent line is likely to get its share of business. Recent travelers to this coast by the Canadian Pacific are loud in their praise of the accommodations offered by it, especially as to the dining and sleeping cars, politeness of officials, attention to passengers, comforts and smoothness of roadbed. There is a rumor that the Canadian Pacific will make the lowest rate ever offered by any railroad on the coast for round trip tickets good for ninety days, from Portland and all Puget Sound points, to Minneapolis to the delegates and friends of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, to be held at Minneapolis in October. If this proves to be true, it will afford visitors and delegates an opportunity of viewing the magnificent scenery along this line.

HOME DEFENCES.

Efficient defence on the British or Canadian side of Fuca Straits is now in earnest being looked into, and will soon, let us hope like the overland railway, be a fact, and no longer a thing devoutly to be wished. "Howsomedever," as in Maryatt's novels Jack Tar is made to say, while the front approach is well guarded it will never do to neglect the backway from Nawitti, Goleta's channel, Seymour Narrows and southward. Along this safe line of navigation, super-excellent points exist for the erection of batteries. The recently proposed Island Railway will when built, connect these with Victoria, Ottawa, Toronto, Montreal and Halifax.

SHOULD BE PRINTED.

The government will be in remiss in its duty if it does not cause Mr. Koch's elaborate report on the Cariboo quartz ledges to be printed in pamphlet form and circulated in the east and in Europe. Its publication in Victoria is all very well, but such information should be disseminated in financial centers. Pamphlets of this kind, rather than the current emigration literature, deceptive and allaring as thousands to their sorrow know it to be, is what ought to be thrown broadcast everywhere in the east. British Columbia first wants capitalists to develope her dormant wealth; after that poor men will be wanted to do the work.

IN THE VAN.

It appears that Victoria will be the first place in the Dominion to use electricity for private house lighting. So says the Toronto Globe, and it adds the following information: The station starts with 400 10-candle power lamps, and it is expected that by the end of the year 1,000 lights will be in use. The motive power is supplied by an Armington & Sims engine which drives two Edison dynamos. The wiring is on the three-wire system. All the apparatus has been supplied by Mr. A. J. Lawson, of Montreal, the Canadian agent of the Edison Co.

Mr. T. C. Graham, Cuba, is at the Oriental.

Mrs. Dr. Milne returned from the mainland last night.

Miss Ure and Mr. S. Leiser went up to the mainland to-day.

Mr. C. D. Rand returned yesterday from the mainland.

Mr. and Mrs. Wolff, P. Gray, G. Shaw and W. Cusack were passengers to Nanaimo this morning.

Mr. J. F. Allison, of Similkameen, came down last night and returned again this morning.

Mr. R. B. Linton, the genial representative of H. A. Nelson & Co., of Montreal and Toronto, arrived last night.

At the Oriental: Mrs Devan, Miss Harris, Mrs G Hamon, Tacoma; T F Sinclair, New Westminster; John Garsman, Granite City.

Lieut.-Col. Wolfenden returned home last night from the Canadian Wimbledon. His few weeks vacation have been greatly enjoyed.

Mr. J. C. Blackett who fell from a temporary platform in the Bee Hive saloon, and broke several ribs, is progressing rapidly towards complete recovery.

Mr. W. C. Steves, of New Westminster, has gone to Toronto to enter McMaster College (Baptist), where he will take a complete course in theology.

Mr. R. F. Radebaugh, proprietor and editor of the Tacoma Ledger, has just returned from a visit to Winnipeg and St. Paul, having made the round trip via the Northern and Canadian Pacific railways.

Councillor A. J. Smith, who has been sojourning at the Banff hot springs for several weeks, returned home last night in answer to a telegram informing him of the fire at his factory. With characteristic enterprise, Mr. Smith will immediately repair the damage.

Amongst the passengers by the Louise last evening from Port Moody were Messrs. Jessop, Harding, J. Robinson, Ainsworth, J. Burtlett, Short, M. Hayes and wife, S. Greer, J. F. Long, J. Ewen, N. Carter, Mesdames, Matthews, Fleming and others.

From a friend of the Hon. Mr. Elliott, we learn that the honorable gentleman had left the hospital in San Francisco, after undergoing an operation to one of his eyes, which has had a beneficial effect; but he expects to have to return to the hospital shortly, in order to undergo an operation to the other eye.

Sir Edward Watkin, M. P., for many years President of the Grand Trunk railway, arrived from Montreal last night and is registered at the Driard. His visit is specially for the purpose of seeing the Canadian Pacific railway. He will return via San Francisco and Chicago. Sir Edward, besides his connection with the Grand Trunk, has large interests in other railways, and is the foremost advocate of the Channel tunnel.

Mr. Justice Henry, of the Canadian Supreme Court, arrived last night and is staying at the Driard. The exchequer court, at which he will preside, will determine the titles to properties within the railway belt sold by the provincial government to private parties previous to the belt passing into the hands of the Dominion Government. There are a number of Victorians interested in the suits pending.

Mr. W. G. Lange leaves on Saturday for San Francisco, where he will study dentistry preparatory to entering the dental college at Philadelphia. The close attention Mr. Lange has given to business for a number of years has so injured his eyesight that he has found it necessary to abandon the watch making and jewelry business for some time. He carries with him the best wishes of a wide circle of friends who will be pleased to hear of his future success.

THE BAPTIST SOCIAL.

The social meeting of the Baptist congregation, in their beautiful church last evening, was emphatically what it purported to be. Tea was served in the school room, the programme afterwards being an exceedingly interesting and pleasant one. Blue jackets sang a hymn, followed by a quartette by Mrs. Clyde, Miss McNaughton and others. Mr. J. L. Beckwith then stepped forward, and on behalf of the congregation, presented the pastor, Rev. W. Barss, with a purse of money, accompanied by an address expressive of their high appreciation of his efforts to promote the church's welfare and of his spiritual labors amongst them. Mr. Barss replied in feeling language, and expressed his gratification for the sympathy and cordial understanding that existed between pastor and people. Part of the programme had to be dispensed with owing to the lateness of the hour. The gathering was a very enjoyable one to all present.

CHURCH DEDICATION.

The opening services in connection with the dedication of the new Methodist Church just completed in Sumas will begin next Saturday, 25th inst., when a dinner will be served by the ladies of the congregation and others. The day is to be observed as a holiday by the people of the locality and all are to join in the effort to make the turn out a grand success. On the following Lord's day, the 26th, the dedicatory services will be conducted by the Rev. Coverdale Watson. The church is a neat substantial edifice and as place of public worship is a credit to the congregation who are to worship therein, as well as to the settlement.

MARRIAGE BELLS.

On Tuesday, 14th inst., at St. James' Cathedral, Toronto, Sophia Hume, only daughter of the Hon. Edward Blake, was united in marriage to the Rev. George McKinnon Irving, Dean of Ivyeliff College, Toronto. The wedding, at the express wish of the bride's parents, was a quiet and unostentatious one. The ceremony, however, was witnessed by a number of the friends of the contracting parties, both of whom are very popular in Toronto. The bride is reported to have presented a charming appearance. She inherits many of her father's talents, and is a highly accomplished young woman.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Carr, wife of Mr. Richard Carr, of Wharf street, died this morning at 3 o'clock. The deceased lady has been an invalid for a long time and her demise was not unexpected. The husband and relatives have the sympathy of many friends.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT MUDDLE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—In your article of Monday you refer to the electric light and the pertinent question is asked "Who has Blundered?" This is the question in every one's mind, who, in consequence of the recent developments, pertinently ask when is this blundering going toocease? The latest is that the recent addition to the electric lighting, costing $22,000, is not, by any means, complete, and will require an expenditure of over a thousand dollars in the dynamos department, to make it come up to the standard, and fit for the work it has to do. This is to say nothing of all the extras attached to the boiler department. Some one certainly has blundered. The last is the dynamo, which, although paid for, is as great a blunder as any. A SUBSCRIBER.

LICENSING BOARD.

(Before His Worship Mayor Fell, E. Johnson, S. M., and Geo. Morison, J. P.)

The bench of licensing magistrates met to-day, at 12 o'clock, in the police court room, according to adjournment.

The application of Hamm & Marboeuf for the privilege of selling liquor in the Poodle Dog Saloon under the present restaurant license, or if that be refused, for a new license, was presented by Mr. S. P. Mills, Counsel also presented a petition from 150 citizens in support of the application.

Mr. T. Fell, under instructions from the licensed Vintners, opposed the issuance of the license on the ground that there were three saloons in the neighborhood already, and it would be unfair to grant another in the vicinity. He presented a counter petition, signed by forty-three licensed saloon and hotel keepers, who represented that there were already enough licenses in the city.

Mr. S. P. Mills argued that his clients had already paid $200 for a restaurant license, which was a general retail license, and held that a license although issued contrary to the instructions of the licensing board, would protect the licensee. He characterized the petition of the licensed Vintners as the most audacious proceeding he had ever heard of. Of course men in the trade did not want any more opposition. The applicants were respected men, and the premises were admirably fitted up.

Mr. Johnson said a decision could not be arrived at without taking into consideration the original application, which was for a license to sell wines and malt liquors at meals at the Poodle Dog Rotisserie. Should it turn out, as Mr. Mills contended, that the board had no power to issue a license for the sale of wines and malt liquors, there was no doubt that it had the power to withdraw a license used for a purpose other than it was granted for. He concurred in the petition in behalf of the license. The Poodle Dog was very handsomely fitted up and as a restaurant was a credit to the city. But the proprietors should leave well enough alone; the saloon would reduce the place from a first class to a third class restaurant. The magistrates, he thought, should not consider the petition of the other liquor dealers; the question should be considered only on public grounds. He would advise Hamm & Marboeuf to go on as they had been doing in the past, and they would obtain the respect and patronage of the people of Victoria.

His Worship "delivered judgment." He felt satisfied that the original license did not authorize Hamm & Marboeuf to sell in the saloon. The restaurant, there was no doubt was one of the most respectable in the city, but in granting a license its respectability would not be added to. It was the unanimous opinion of the board that the application should be refused. The board, he believed, would be doing an injustice to the proprietors of the Poodle Dog in granting their request. Application, therefore, was refused.

SHE CHANGED HER MIND.

A Halifax Physician Loses a Pretty and Wealthy Bride.

HALIFAX, Sept. 1L—A sensation prevails in social circles over a marriage which did not take place yesterday. Some time ago a pretty young heiress, named Miss Moyle, belonging to Lunenburg, a niece of Senator Kaulbach and C. E. Kaulbach, M. P., for Lunenburg County, fell in love with Dr. Aitkin, a physician of standing and practice. Miss Moyle's friends did not approve of the match and sent her to Europe in hope of breaking it off, but sheeece only made hearts grow fonder and she arranged to steal back to Halifax and marry the man of her choice. She came as a passenger by the steamer Milanese, which arrived Wednesday. Dr. Aitkin was on the wharf to meet her in alleged hilarious condition. She took in the situation, but made the best of it, and arranged to get married in St. Luke's Cathedral early next morning by Rev. Mr. King. The night she spent with some friends moving in high social circles. At the appointed hour the groom and his friends were at the church, but the bride was missing. Subsequently a note was delivered to the would-be groom from his betrothed, stating that she had changed her mind and had taken an early steamer for Lunenburg, where she would return to her friends a sadder and wiser girl.

Drink the celebrated Baja California Damiana Bitters.

TROUT FISHING.

A new feature of sport at Cowichan Lake is fly-fishing. Two gentlemen one afternoon last week killed twenty-four trout, varying in weight from two to four pounds each. This record is hard to beat, and disproves the theory that the lake trout do not bite at the fly. A couple of elk fell to a sportsman's rifle last Wednesday. It is a great place for those in search of sport.

THE GREAT FRENCH REMEDY

Dr. LeDuc's Periodical Pills.

These Pills are compounded from the purest drugs, from those only which are known to act upon the Generative Organs in Females. It is a well known fact that a very large proportion of the ills to which Females are liable, are the direct result of Suppressed or Disordered Menstruation, and it is necessary therefore that a safe and reliable remedy for the cure of these diseases be placed within the reach of every one. Dr. Le Duc's Pills are the oldest, most generally used, and most reliable remedy for the cure of Suppressed Menstruation, and other Uterine diseases, and wherever they have been introduced have driven every other remedy out of the market. They were first introduced into Paris, France, by Dr. LeDuc in 1839, and have so gained the confidence of the public that they have for years been the standing remedy in every household. Ask any druggist for them. Wholesale of LANGLEY & Co., druggists, VICTORIA, B. C. Retail by E. Pimbury & Co., Nanaimo; T. Pickard, Denman Island. R. B. Richardson Cowichan; A. R.
